In other words, the wage increases semanded by other clames of employees are under consideration by the Government's Board of Railroad Wagne and Working Conditions. The shopmen's demands are under consideration with the others. The shopmen have been granted a temporary acrease of 4' cents an hour. Other clames of employees have not as yet seen granted anything, but are consent to await the final judgment of the Wagne Board. As all of the denands are being considered together, the shopmen, if they should strike, resuld be carrying alone the burden of winning the demands of the other 1,500,000 employees.
